

Two thirds of the Swiss and Finnish population consider the actual living cost as rather expensive

