

The majority of Austrians believe that the cost of living is growing – especially those who rent their home

Austria

