

The majority of Germans believe that the cost of living is growing – especially those who rent their home

Germany

