

Finnish, Swedish and Swiss people move the most in their life

On average Europeans only move four times into another flat or another house during their life.

On average Finnish, Swedish and Swiss people move six times into another flat or another house during their life.