

One third of the Turkish population believe that living is rather expensive in their country

Turkey

